ALARM SYSTEMS

The sophistication of alarm systems have evolved and improved exponentially over the last few years and have become more reliable and flexible with much less false alarms.

We have resource skills to install all popular branded makes of security systems. We also undertake the repairs of these systems. Our technicians are sent on update courses on a regular basis to stay abreast of developments on the products.

We have combined alarm systems with smoke detectors at various old age homes and frail care centres.

We also often combine the alarm outputs of cameras with alarm systems and configure the cameras to trigger an alarm if the image or movement complies to specific criteria.

ALARM SYSTEMS

We have alarm systems installed in the banking industry coupled with seismic detectors set to detect drilling and hammering and breaking of glass.

We have several installations larger than 64 zones, and many of these have 8 partitions to separate different departments, areas and disciplines . All this configuration to the customer's requirements.

We make extensive use of long range detectors as these units have improved enormously to the present day version. We have found these units to be flexible and very versatile.
